

LockerCase

Handy storage box, suitable as an hotdesking case

The LockerCase is a personal storage box for office accessories that ensures hotdeskers always have their office items to hand.

With the help of the LockerCase you make a clean desk policy possible and every flex worker can work efficiently and comfortably.

The trend of flexible workplaces is increasing over time, which makes it important that the workplace is left tidy for the next person who wants to work at that desk.

It is important that the weight of your bag does not exceed approximately 10% of your bodyweight. Leave papers and accessories in a LockerCase to use them again the next day.

In addition, a clean desk ensures focus. The more efficiently your things are stored, the less distracted you are. You also prevent sensitive information from being exposed to the public.
